What is the Intermediate Gynaecology Service?

This is a community based service run by FedBucks in partnership with the NHS.

FedBucks is a federation of GP practices covering a patient population of over 485,000 patients across Buckinghamshire. They provide local GP representation through their Board of Directors and regularly meet with practice members and with other key stakeholders including the second north Bucks GP federation, Medicas.

FedBucks also works in collaboration with the other three main Buckinghamshire healthcare providers, Buckinghamshire Healthcare Trust, South Central Ambulance Service and Oxford Health Foundation Trust through a Memorandum of Understanding.

We will make sure that you are seen by the right person for the assessment and treatment of your problem.

How the Service works

You have been referred by your GP to a local, specialist gynaecology clinic. Your referral will be assessed quickly and we will contact you to let you know the details of your appointment at our clinic.

About your appointment

Our Intermediate Gynaecology Clinic is based at the Penn Surgery.

Please try to arrive at the Surgery five minutes before your appointment and report to main reception.

You will receive a letter from us giving you a date and time for attendance. Directions to the hospital can be found on the reverse of this leaflet.

It is important that you attend your appointment as arranged.

If you need to change the appointment: Please contact us on: 01494 412525 (Monday to Friday)
Or e-mail us at:
fedbucks.plannedcare@nhs.net

More information can be found on our website:
www.fedbucks.co.uk

We welcome any questions or comments you may have about the service. Please contact us on the number provided or alternatively by e-mail.

You may be asked to fill in a patient satisfaction questionnaire after your appointment. This will help us to maintain standards and improve the service for patients. These feedback forms are always available at our clinics so please feel free to request one from staff.

If you require an interpreting service, please can you bring a member of your family or friend along to your appointment. Please let us know in advance if further assistance is required.
